Biography

Danny Pardo is a 36-year-old Argentinean, born from immigrant parents from the ex-Yugoslavia. The mixture in his blood comes from Italy, Spain and Yugoslavia and he stands at 5'10" tall with a personality to match. Speaking Spanish, English, Portuguese and Italian fluently, Danny has had the chance to perform in all languages, from commercials, to films, to soap operas, to hosting, to live events and presentations.

Danny, realized his passion for his self-expression during the course of The Landmark Forum when he distinguished that 13 years of successful businesses and his BA in Marketing and Businesses were limiting his possibilities. After jumping immediately into acting in September 2003, landed his first regional commercial for Florida Lottery, exactly one month after declaring himself as an actor. Being dedicated, focused and determined to make his career as an actor, gave him the opportunity to explore aspects that were completely unimaginable to him, such as landing in 2007 co-star roles in Prison Break, 24, a recurring role in the 7th season of The Shield. Four Hispanic soap operas (telenovelas: Anita no the Rajes, Prisonera, Decisiones, Al Filo de la Ley), jumpstarted his career on TV. Beginnings of 2004 found him hosting a Latin American show on E-Entertainment TV Vidas Bonitas and becoming a reporter for Univision's show Control with interviews to Paulina Rubio and being a guest at the show The Chat in MUN2 Channel as new upcoming actor.

His ability to navigate through different arenas, gave him the power to even broaden his horizons. His face was used for a Print campaign for Nextel during 2004, what launched him into booking several more print jobs such as Hewlett Packard, Heineken, Four Seasons Hotels, Ford, Sony, Coca-Cola, Bellsouth, Ft. Lauderdale Tourism, several Real Estate developments and others.

In only 4 months into his career, he booked his first National SAG Commercial for Lincoln/Mercury. In February 2005 he created opportunities to work in the Los Angeles market, where everybody knows how difficult it is to start. Two weeks into this adventure, he managed to sign commercially with the Alvarado-Rey Talent Agency, with whom he booked immediately 2 National Commercials, Circuit City and Jeep, and landed two supporting roles in independent movies. From then on he became a money making machine with the following commercials: Time Warner Cable, Toyota, Burger King, 21st Century, Dunkin Donuts, Circuit City, Jeep, Pledge Furniture Polish, Whirlpool Appliances, CVS Pharmacy, ITT Tech University, Home Depot, Lincoln/Mercury, Dashers Insurance, and many more. Danny's success in acting, his larger than life persona and way of being, quickly earned him recognition in every set he has worked on.

Concerning Danny's future, his big break is happening at this time in Film and TV in Los Angeles. He is unstoppable. In less than one year living in L.A., he booked a Lead Role in the Feat. Film Bad Day WWII, Supporting Roles in Dancing on a Dry Salt Lake, Forlorn Hope, Ablution, Miami Undercover and has 4 offers for roles in upcoming productions. He is represented Theatrically in L.A. by The Savage Agency.

The motto he goes by describes why he has become successful in a very competitive business in such a short period of time: It is not what you do; actually it is HOW you do what you do that makes a difference...you can count on him giving everything he is and has for his craft.

Skills: 4+ years of on-camera experience, excellent with improv, works well under pressure, IFB and Teleprompter experience..
